

Pro-bono

Your Path. Your Rights. Our Support.

The Problem

Rejected or Urgent Case

Data Collection

Data Analysis
(Translation + Transcription)

Lawyer

Case
research

Give next steps

Pro-bono

tries to streamline the process

What's broken or painful? Who experiences it?

- Fragmented Information
- Language Barriers
- Manual Search

DEMO TIME!

Our Impact

Faster transcription of interviews & translation

Reduces time for legal research (cross-check sources, case searches)

Step 2: Processing Audio

Case: Jean Valjean (23145356752)

Audio processed successfully!

Original Transcription

View Full Transcription

Original Language

Bonjour, Monsieur. Veuillez vous asseoir. Je suis l'officier chargé d'examiner votre demande d'asile. Pouvez-vous confirmer votre identité pour le dossier ? Bonjour. Je m'appelle Jean Valg  an. J'ai   galement   t   connu sous les noms de Monsieur Madeleine et Ultime Fauche-Levant. Pourquoi avez-vous utilis   plusieurs identit  s, Monsieur Valg  an ? Par n  cessit  , Monsieur l'officier. En France, un ancien bagnard ne peut pas vivre sous son vrai nom. On me refuse tout, le travail, le logement, m  me un morceau de pain. J'ai d   ch  nger d'identit   pour survivre et pour   chapper    une pers  cution sans fin. Parlez-moi de votre condamnation initiale. Pour quel crime avez-vous   t  

English Translation

View Full Translation

English

Hello, sir. Please have a seat. I am the officer in charge of examining your request for asylum. Can you confirm your identity for the file? Hello. My name is Jean Valjean. I have also been known under the names of Mr. Madeleine and Ultime Fauche-Levant. Why did you use several identities, Mr. Valjean? By necessity, Mr. Officer. In France, an old banyard cannot live under its real name. I am denied everything, work, housing, even a piece of bread. I had to change my identity to survive and escape an endless persecution. Tell me about your initial conviction. For what crime were you imprisoned? I stole a piece of bread, sir. A single piece of bread. My sister was a widow with seven children. They

REFUGEE CASE LEGAL ANALYSIS

Asylum Seeker Name: Jan Veu Valjean

UNHCR Registration Number: 12342142354

Report Generated: October 31, 2025 at 23:14

Prepared For: Pro Bono Legal Counsel

CONFIDENTIAL LEGAL DOCUMENT

This document contains privileged legal analysis prepared for legal counsel. It should be treated as confidential and used solely for the purpose of providing legal representation to the named asylum seeker.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

Summary of Legally Relevant Facts

1. LEGALLY RELEVANT FACTS (with references to Appendix I and II)

Parties and identities

Principal applicant: Mr. Jean Valjean, French national. Basis of claim: alleged persecutory criminal-justice pursuit and disproportionate penal enforcement in France. Procedural posture: lodged an asylum application in Switzerland; potential Dublin responsibility issue noted (see Appendix I; see Appendix II).

Derivative applicant: Cosette (minor), de facto dependent child of Mr. Valjean; request for derivative protection and child-welfare measures (see Appendix I; see Appendix II).

Entry, presence, and procedure in Switzerland

Mr. Valjean and Cosette are physically present in Switzerland and have requested international protection. Switzerland's Dublin unit is expected to initiate responsibility checks with France; safe-country non-consideration may be contemplated given French nationality (see Appendix I; see Appendix II).

Claimed risk on return and asserted nexus

Alleged risk arises from French authorities' continuing pursuit related to past criminal convictions, escapes, and identity document offenses. The claim references surveillance and anticipated detention upon return (see Appendix I; see Appendix II).

The asserted harm is characterized as grossly disproportionate criminal-justice treatment rather than persecution for a Convention ground; no specific claim of risk tied to race, religion, nationality, membership of a particular social group, or political opinion is documented in the current file (see Appendix I; see Appendix II).

Criminal/offense history and exclusion-relevant information

Documented or admitted conduct includes historic theft (bread), prison escapes, use of forged papers, and episodic minor offenses linked to survival and to protection of a child (e.g., removal of Cosette from abusive custodians) (see Appendix I; see Appendix II).

No evidence of violent serious criminality, extremism, or public-safety danger has been presented on the record (see Appendix I; see Appendix II).

Rehabilitation and character evidence

Evidence proffered of community rehabilitation while using the name "Monsieur Madeleine," including municipal leadership, gainful employment, and community service; non-prosecution by Bishop Myriel cited as early turning point (see Appendix I; see Appendix II).

Child-specific facts (best interests; dependency)

Cosette is fully dependent on Mr. Valjean for care, housing, and decision-making. Prior abuse is alleged; current stabilization in Switzerland is sought (schooling, medical/psychosocial support). Immediate child-protection engagement with KESB is contemplated to safeguard best interests during proceedings (see Appendix I; see Appendix II).

2. APPLICABLE LAW (with references to Appendix III)

Swiss constitutional and statutory framework

Federal Constitution (BV, SR 101), Article 25: absolute protection against refoulement, expulsion, and extradition where there is a real risk of torture or inhuman/degrading treatment (see Appendix III).

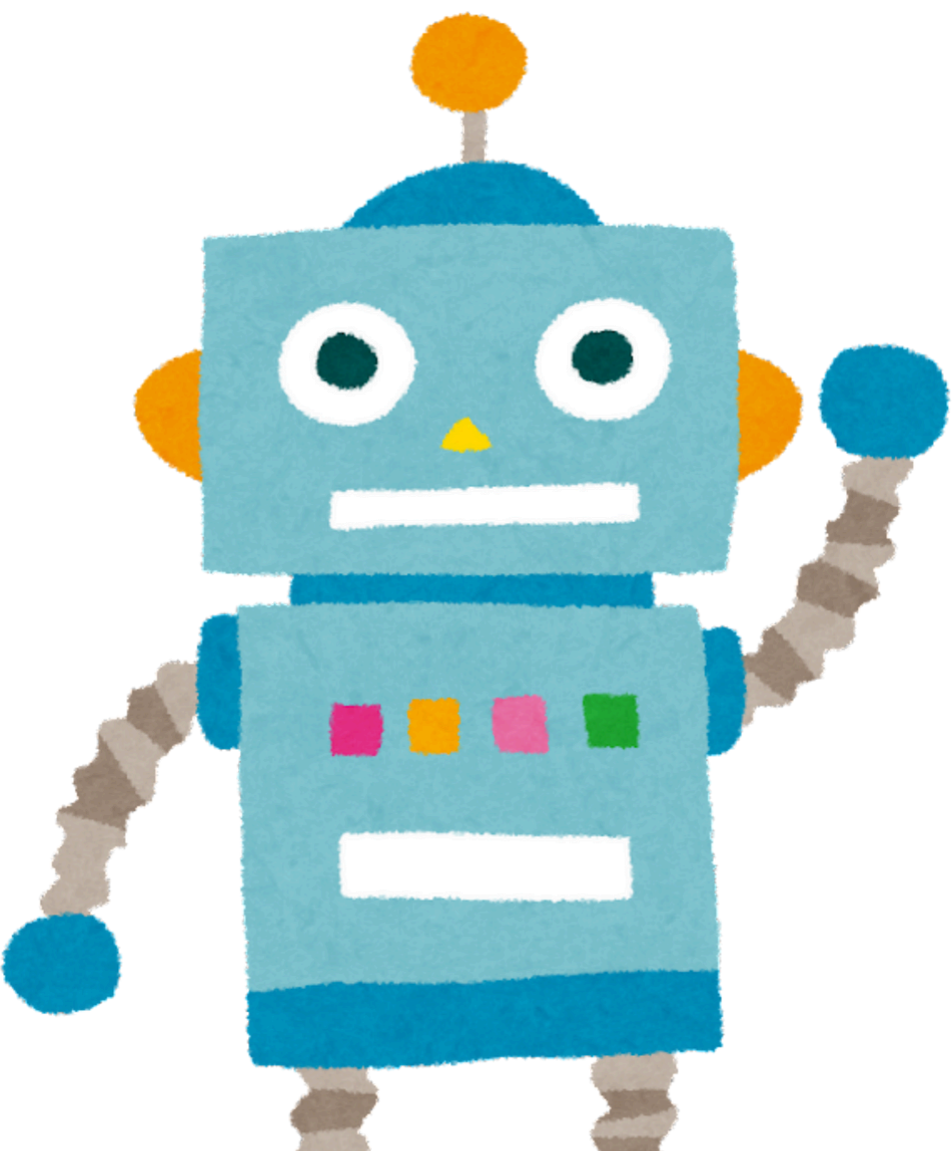

Asylum Act (AsylG, SR 142.31): Article 3 (refugee definition and nexus requirements); rules on non-consideration for safe States and on Dublin implementation; exclusion grounds, subject to non-refoulement constraints (see Appendix III).

Foreign Nationals and Integration Act (AIG, SR 142.20): provisions on removal and provisional

Reducing the overall preparation time incresases the capacity of lawyers to provide more assistance to refugees and handle new cases

Thank you!

Pro-bono

Your Path. Your Rights. Our Support.

Questions?

Citations

<https://www.unhcr.org/news/news-releases/global-legal-community-steps-refugees-amid-pandemic-providing-165000-hours-free>

Pro Bono Feature Overview

---

01

Interview Transcription: Reduce the process of transcribing interviews

02

Multilingual: Handles requests and translation in any European language

03

Hybrid Search (FedLex + UNHCR Data): Reduce the legal research time drastically

04

Uploading Existing Documents: Integration of data between chatbots and SEM

05

Refugee Summary Generator: Generate legally relevant refugee summary for the lawyer

06

Workflow Automation: Reduce preparation time for lawyers, increasing the capacity of lawyers to handle new cases

